3,399 DAYS, 15 PLACEMENTS ONE FOREVER HOME DENISE'S STORY

As the Bennetts sat in pre-service training in 2015, their hearts broke listening to the story of fourteen-year-old Denise. Reggie and Crystal were in the process of becoming adoptive parents and were learning more about children needing committed, permanent homes. They heard Denise had lived in 14 different placements since being removed from her birth mother at the age of five, never experiencing the stability of a home for longer than a year.

Moving from home to home was hard for Denise, as most placements would write her off as having "challenging behavior" when the adjustment got tough. However, when Denise arrived at Helping Hand Home in 2012 things began to turn around. For the first time, her tendency to impulsively react to other children was no longer seen as "challenging behavior," but rather as a symptom of the root of it all: the abandonment and trauma she experienced from her biological family at a young age.

When Denise finally felt her pain was being heard, she was able to accept the help of caregivers at HHH and begin her healing process. Thanks to weekly therapy sessions, the nurture from staff members, and many other trauma-based services, Denise began to chip away at the underlying trauma from her past. After she completed residential treatment, Denise remained in the care of Helping Hand Home, but this time in a loving foster home where she was able to stay connected to staff members and therapists who continued to help her reach her treatment goals. Her foster home was filled with love and support but was not a permanent placement.

The Foster and Adoption Team approached the Bennetts and began talking with them about a teen girl who was in need of a committed, understanding and nurturing home. As they shared more information about Denise, Reggie instantly made the connection and remembered the story of the girl from the pre-service training. He then realized the search was over; she was the one. "This is where it ends for her," whispered Reggie Bennett to his wife, Crystal, "She will never have to move again."

In November of 2016, Denise and the Bennetts officially became a forever family. The Bennetts admit that the road to permanency was not easy and they relied on HHH for guidance and support. Together, Reggie, Crystal and Denise worked hard to create a healthy, loving family. Now in the 9th grade, Denise is thriving both academically and athletically. Not only did she go to the Junior Olympics for track and field in 8th grade, but she is now a star player on both the volleyball and basketball teams at her high school. Reggie and Crystal could not be more thankful for the role that Helping Hand Home played in Denise's life before she finally became a member of their family. Now that this family has found each other, they are excited for what lies ahead.
